GREEN BAY ENTERS DRAFT WITH NINE SELECTIONS

Next weekend, the Green Bay Packers will welcome another rookie class to their roster through the NFL Draft, held April 28-30 at Radio City Music Hall in New York City.

- ▶ Armed with seven of their own selections - plus a fourth-round compensatory selection and a seventh-round choice from Carolina - the Packers will have plenty of opportunities to add more talent and depth to their roster. All picks are eligible to be traded except for the compensatory selection.
- ▶ For the second straight year, the event will begin in prime time on Thursday night, with Round 1 on April 28 beginning at 7:00 p.m. CT.
- ▶ Rounds 2-3 also will be held in prime time, beginning on Friday, April 29, at 5 p.m. CT. Rounds 4-7 will complete the draft on Saturday, beginning at 11 a.m. CT.
- ▶ The time allotted in between picks will remain the same. Teams will have 10 minutes in between selections in the first round and seven minutes between each choice for Round 2. Each subsequent round will allow up to five minutes in between picks. A look at where Green Bay currently stands in the draft order:

Round	Round #	Overall #
1	32	32
2	32	64
3	32	96
4	32	129
4	34	131 (compensatory)
5	32	163
6	32	197
7	1	204 (from Carolina)
7	30	233

THOMPSON LEADS PACKERS INTO ANOTHER DRAFT

General Manager Ted Thompson enters his seventh draft with the Green Bay Packers, and Thompson has long viewed the draft as the most important aspect of player acquisition.

- ▶ Thompson first employed this strategy in Seattle, where he spent five seasons (2000-04) running the Seahawks' draft room as vice president of football operations. Nine starters on Seattle's Super Bowl XL team, along with kicker Josh Brown, were drafted by the Seahawks on Thompson's watch.
- ▶ That same strategy has provided the Packers with one of the youngest and most talented teams in the NFL, the core of which has been brought to Green Bay by Thompson through the draft.
- ▶ Thompson entered his first draft with Green Bay in 2005 armed with seven picks. Through draft-day trades, he wound up with 11 selections, highlighted by a pair of Pro Bowlers in QB Aaron Rodgers (first round) and S Nick Collins (second).
- ▶ Similarly in 2006, Thompson began draft day with seven selections, this time turning those seven picks into 12. The '06 class included selections like LB A.J. Hawk (first), G/T Daryn Colledge (second) and WR Greg Jennings (second).
- ▶ In 2007, Thompson again used draft-day trades to acquire more selections and increase the competition for roster spots. That class included significant contributors such as RB Brandon Jackson (second),

2011 NFL DRAFT PREVIEW

- WR James Jones (third), and FB Korey Hall, LB Desmond Bishop and K Mason Crosby (consecutive picks in the sixth round).
- ▶ That strategy was implemented again in 2008, as Thompson turned eight choices into 10 draft picks (nine players and a future pick). Selections such as WR Jordy Nelson (second), TE Jermichael Finley (third), G Josh Sitton (fourth) and QB Matt Flynn (seventh) have made their mark on offense.
- ▶ So four drafts in, draft pundits thought it would be safe to predict Green Bay's strategy: trade back, acquire more players and picks, and let everything sort itself out in training camp.
- ▶ In 2009, the Packers entered the draft with nine selections but made one of the most dramatic moves over the course of the weekend when they traded back into the first round. After selecting NT B.J. Raji with the No. 9 pick, Thompson moved back into the first round to select LB Clay Matthews. Though the Packers surrendered a second-round pick and two third-round selections to New England for the opportunity to draft Matthews plus a fifth-round choice, the USC linebacker proved well worth it, becoming the first Packer to make the Pro Bowl in each of his first two seasons since RB John Brockington (1971-72).
- ▶ Last year, Green Bay selected T Bryan Bulaga in the first round at No. 23, and he went on to start the final 12 games and all four postseason contests at RT. Thompson moved up in the third round to select S Morgan Burnett (71st overall), and the rookie started the first four games before sustaining a season-ending knee injury. The Packers also got notable contributions from TE Andrew Quarless (fifth), RB James Starks (sixth) and DE C.J. Wilson (seventh) in 2010.
- ▶ Today's roster has Thompson's fingerprints all over it. Of his 58 draft selections (2005-2010), 33 remain on the roster entering the 2011 draft. Only two players (LB Nick Barnett and C Scott Wells) remain from the four drafts prior to Thompson's arrival (2001-04).

2011 DRAFT PREVIEW

A LOOK INTO THE DRAFT ROOM

General Manager Ted Thompson heads up the football operations, and he and Green Bay's coaches are well known to Packers fans. But working with Thompson is a talented and experienced football operations staff.

- Members of the personnel staff have spent months, if not years with some prospects, studying for the 2011 NFL Draft. They visit schools throughout the season, attending practices, dozens of games and pro days in the spring. In each area, they have formulated relationships with high school and college coaches, trying to get a better idea of who the person is, not just the football prospect.
- Working closely with Thompson year round is Director of College Scouting John Dorsey (21st NFL season), Director - Football Operations Reggie McKenzie (18th NFL season), Assistant Director of Pro Personnel Tim Terry (Seventh NFL season) and Assistant Director of Pro Personnel Eliot Wolf (Eighth NFL season).

WHO'S BEEN THERE AT NO. 32?

Thanks to a Super Bowl title, the team's 13th world championship, Green Bay will have to wait until the end of the first round before its name appears "on the clock" at pick No. 32.

► So when was the last time the Packers chose at No. 32? It was 1995, when Green Bay selected cornerback Craig Newsome from Arizona State. Newsome started all 46 games he played in during his four-year career with the Packers (1995-98).

► The Packers actually were slated to pick 22nd overall in '95, but moved back to the final pick of the first round in a trade with the Carolina Panthers, who along with the Jacksonville Jaguars, were granted an extra selection at the end of each of the first two rounds as expansion franchises.

► So what has been at No. 32 in the first round in recent years? Teams have looked to the defensive side of the ball in recent years, as CB Patrick Robinson (NO, 2010), DT Ziggy Hood (PIT, 2009) and DE Mathias Kiwanuka (NYG, 2006) all were drafted at the slot in recent years. The lone offensive selection in the past five years was WR Anthony Gonzalez (IND-2007). New England forfeited the 31st selection in 2008, so there were just 31 picks in Round 1 that year.

► Going further back, G Logan Mankins, a three-time Pro Bowl selection for New England, was selected by the Patriots with the No. 32 pick in 2005.

► While first-round choices certainly can be the cornerstone of a franchise, as Thompson has shown with Pro Bowl selections Aaron Rodgers (2005), A.J. Hawk and Clay Matthews (2009) as well as NT B.J. Raji (2009), second-round selections can prove to be just as valuable. That's where Thompson drafted smaller-school players like Nick Collins (2005) and Greg Jennings (2006), who both have earned Pro Bowl recognition during their careers.

► Also in the second round, Thompson has added G Daryn Colledge (2006), RB Brandon Jackson (2007) and WR Jordy Nelson (2008), each of whom has contributed since their respective rookie seasons. Green Bay owns pick No. 64 in Round 2 this year.

► With 22 starters and a 53-man roster, selections in the third round often turn into significant contributors for a team. Current Packers WR James Jones (2007), TE Jermichael Finley (2008) and S Morgan Burnett (2010) were all third-round choices under Thompson.

Green Bay heads into the draft with selection No. 96 in Round 3.

► In addition to their own fourth-round pick (No. 129), the Packers also have a compensatory selection in the round just two picks later (No. 131) for the loss of free agent DE Aaron Kampman to Jacksonville in 2010. A pair of starters on Green Bay's offensive line, C Scott Wells (2004/seventh round) and G Josh Sitton (2008/fourth round) were once compensatory selections by the Packers.

Draft-order ties are resolved by the cumulative record of each team's opponents. The team with the weaker opponents receives drafting priority. Within a tied segment, non-playoff clubs are given priority over playoff clubs. Priority of playoff clubs within a tied segment is based on their advancement in the playoffs, but they will not drop out of their tied segment unless they participate in the Super Bowl.

2011 SCHEDULE RELEASED

The Green Bay Packers' 91st NFL regular-season schedule – headlined by four prime-time games as well as a nationally televised Thanksgiving contest – was released Tuesday by the National Football League.

- Green Bay will begin the defense of its Super Bowl XLV title at home against the New Orleans Saints in a Thursday night contest on Sept. 8. The matchup of the last two Super Bowl winners will mark the first time in franchise history that the Packers will open the season on a Thursday night. It will also be just the third Thursday night game in Lambeau Field history.
- The Packers will head out on the road in Week 2 to take on Carolina, the first of back-to-back road games for Green Bay. It is the second straight season that Green Bay has played two contests away from Lambeau Field in the first three weeks.
- For the second straight season, the Packers will visit Soldier Field in Week 3 to take on the Chicago Bears, a rematch of the 2010 NFC Championship Game.
- Green Bay will face another 2010 playoff foe in Week 5 when it travels to Atlanta for a Sunday night contest against the Falcons on NBC. It will be the Packers' third game against an NFC South opponent in the first five weeks.
- The Packers will host Minnesota in Week 10 on ESPN's Monday Night Football. 2011 marks the 19th consecutive season the Packers have appeared on MNF, the NFC's longest streak (Denver, 20).
- For the third time in Head Coach Mike McCarthy's tenure, the Packers will travel to Detroit for a Thanksgiving Day matchup. Green Bay won the previous two Thanksgiving meetings (2007, 2009) under McCarthy.
- With the MNF game against Minnesota and the Thanksgiving game at Detroit, the Packers will have three games in an 11-day span. Green Bay has some recent experience with a stretch similar to that, having played three contests in 12 days in 2009 (Nov. 15-26).
- Both of the Packers' December road games will be played outdoors in potential cold-weather conditions with visits to the N.Y. Giants (Week 13) and the Kansas City Chiefs (Week 15).
- Green Bay finishes the regular season with back-to-back home contests (Chicago, Detroit) for the second straight season. The only other time the Packers have finished with two home games in consecutive seasons was 1922-23.
- For just the second time in franchise annals, the Packers will play on Christmas. Green Bay will host Chicago in prime time on NBC. The only other Christmas game in Packers history also came against the Bears (2005) at Lambeau Field.
- The Packers will be the first NFL team to play on Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day in the same season, with all three games coming against divisional foes.
- Green Bay closes against an NFC North opponent for the fifth time in the past six seasons, this time against Detroit.
- The Packers' bye week arrives in Week 8, the second time Green Bay has had their bye that week under McCarthy (2008).
- Thirteen games are slated for Sunday this season, with two Thursday night contests and one on Monday night. Only six games are scheduled for noon (CT) starts with five games currently slated for 3:15 p.m. (CT).
- The Packers have five games on the schedule against 2010 playoff teams, beginning right away in Week 1 vs. New Orleans. The other matchups come against Chicago (Weeks 3 and 16), Atlanta (Week 5), and Kansas City (Week 15).
- Green Bay (No. 9 offense, No. 5 defense) was one of just four NFL teams to finish in the top 10 in both total offense and defense in 2010. The Packers play all three of the other teams in 2011, hosting New Orleans (No. 6/No. 4) in Week 1 and traveling to take on San Diego (No. 1/No. 1) in Week 9 and the N.Y. Giants (No. 5/No. 7) in Week 13.
